(watch for ticket information in the April RAG)

TESTIMONIALS SOLICITED

The April issue of THE DEPOT TOWN RAG will initiate the celebration of the Association's Tenth Anniversary. We are soliciting comments from community folks on their perceptions of Depot Town's past decade. We would be deeply honored to include your thoughts - if you could write them in a short note in the next week or so. We thank you in advance. The Editors.

D.T.A. PRESIDENT THANKS YPSILANTI AREA FOR TEN TEN GREAT YEARS

To the People of the Ypsilanti Area:

Depot Town is proud to share the Tenth Anniversary of its neighborhood Association with the Ypsilanti community. Depot Town has again become a viable commercial and residential district because of the support we've enjoyed in Ypsilanti the last ten years.

Ypsilanti and its old railroad district are a unique and exciting combination: a beautiful, historic and hospitable city - and a dynamic group of hard-working neighbors, both developing vitality and a deserved respect throughout the area.

We want you to know how proud we are to be a part of the Ypsilanti community.

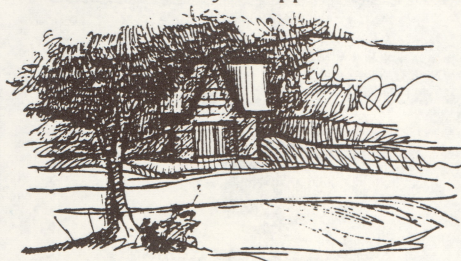

We have seen great effort on the part of the City in recent years and applaud and encourage the exciting programs and plans of the CBC, Campus Town and the Ecorse Road associations. In recent years many new neighborhood associations have risen to take responsibility for the quality of life in their own locales. Our closest residential neighbor, the Historic East Side Association, is a shining example. We look forward to continue working with the City of Ypsilanti, the newly formed Depot Town Development Authority, the Historic Depot Town Foundation and all of our neighbors toward our common goals.

Finally, all of you have our thanks for the part you have played in bringing us so far. Our goal is to continue to merit your support in the years and decades to come. All of you are invited to join in this exciting adventure.

"Gary McKeever, president Depot Town Association Inc."

DIRECTORY OUT IN APRIL

Thanks to our many active businesses, the long-hoped-for Directory will be ready for our Tenth Anniversary celebration - including interesting data about our commercial enterprises in Depot Town, as well as a quick toss-up of local history and annual events. Once an annual publication of Nineteenth Century towns and cities, we felt good about getting this one out once in ten years. Its publication is made possible by the Rag's regular advertisers. Watch for it and give copies to those who are discovering Depot Town for the first time. It will make instant historians and loyal supporters of them.

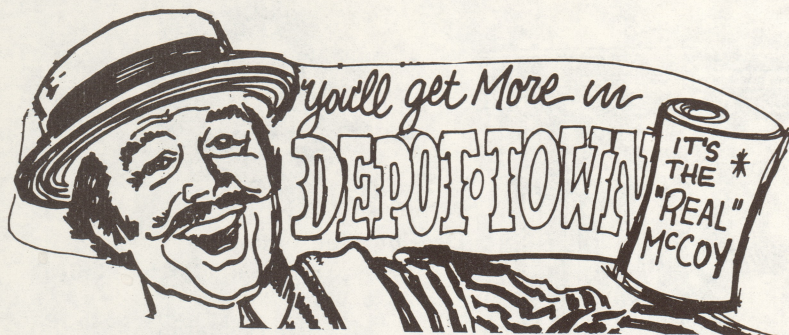

HANSENS BUY HANSENS

After more than a year of reporting such architectural achievements as a new office, a front awning and a new back door, the biggest step has finally been taken by Carole and Loren Hansen, Jr., of Standard Printing: they will sign the closing papers for the purchase of the building on March 15th. At long last, Mary and Loren, Sr. can take the final step into retirement, knowing that their building, as well as their business, will continue the family's tradition of excellence in Ypsilanti's history.

If you should stop in simply to watch the presses operate, you'll see that tradition in action with parents keeping the business on its course and several third generation family members ably backing up the enterprise with their own printing skills. Rick, Jim and Doris aren't related, but they might as well be. It's truly a family affair at Standard Printing. We wish them continued good success.

THE EAGLES HAVE FLOWN

After nearly fifty years in their Depot Town quarters, the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Ypsilanti Aerie 2250, has moved to their new building in the township at the corner of Holmes and Ridge roads. When the order came to Depot Town in 1939 from their previous location on North Adams Street, they occupied only a small second floor meeting room. Later renovations saw the removal of apartment partitions to create an upstairs club room - which is now the most modern of the three ballrooms in the block. (DTA held its first jazz series up there as weekly showcases of Detroit talent, but nobody noticed until it was tried a few years later in the Freight House.) In 1955 the Eagles moved their bar downstairs to its most recent location. The building is owned by the Hansen family.

ASSOCIATION ETHICS

(Sally Richie, of Miller's Ice Cream Parlor, found the following piece in the monthly publication of the Soft Serve and Fast Food Industry tabloid and passes it on to us with thoughts of its appropriateness in our own neighborhood industry.)

".....the marginal or fringe operator usually is not inclined to join. If that person shared the Association's views on successful merchandising he would not, we would like to think, be a "fringe" operator.

The good operator, on the other hand, is always seeking ways to improve himself and his business through the associational impulse. He shares his knowledge and he learns from his peers. He adheres to an unwritten code of ethics and he permits his business to be closely regulated in the public interest. But the most important function of the associational impulse is self regulation: establishment of a mechanism against which the membership can measure and monitor its own behavior and business practice and those of each of its members.

And apparently this system works well. It surely can not be coincidence that those members who continue to seek to conform to the highest level of professional conduct are among the most successful."

487-2229 INFORMATION

D.T.A. February 1985

MINUTES were read and approved.

TREASURY contains $8843.58 with $2923.52 in the general fund, $638.33 in special projects, $465.98 in the Rag and $4815.75 in Jazz.

JAZZ: Approximately $1192.00 in profit from the February concert. Bob Gregory's truck needs our attention. The food concession was successful. We have sold out each concert in the series. With one new cooler we still placed 14 more chairs in the space. Clean-up needs to use trays rather than bags to clear tables. An old bill for $70 to Hon's Flowers will be paid.

HERITAGE FESTIVAL: Chairs are needed for art exhibitions and the quilt show. "Oh Fudge" needs a certified kitchen. What about the Freight House coffee shop? Dale Hooker is co-chairing with Sandy Knight.

RAG REPORT: The March issue was previewed and the directory was proofed by several volunteers. That Directory should be ready for distribution by mid-April. More ad payments were turned over to the treasurer.

COOK BOOK? Bonni Rosen-Fine proposed "The Great Depot Town Cook Book, Joke Anthology and Guide to Historic Architecture" as a publication for the Association to consider. Up to 75 families will be needed to judge/test recipes. A committee was formed to study the proposal and determine deadlines. They will report at a later date.

MARKET PLAZA DEVELOPMENT: Jerry Meadows discussed special events for the Market Plaza such as antique shows, railroad shows, swap meets and other specialty exhibitions to run from Memorial Day through the Heritage Festival each year.

FREIGHT HOUSE Toy and Train Show at Heritage Festival may include an operating Hand Car on the sidings near the caboose. The matter of admissions, tickets, etc., will soon be taken up with the Festival Committee.

MARKET ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Paul Fetters will continue as neighborhood representative with Norm Lawson as his alternate. Mary Liskow will fill the vacancy created by Edith Hefley's death, and DTA president Gary McKeever will fill Mary's previous seat. Next meeting is February 23 at 1:00 p.m.

CHILDREN'S EASTER PARTY will be Saturday, April 6 in Riverside Park with DTA supplying up to fifty dozen (old) eggs for the Egg Toss. T. Dodd will be the Easter Bunny again, in a costume supplied by Haab's Restaurant, and the Zal Gaz Grotto Shrine Clown Club will perform. There was some loose talk about an Eat-Matzoh-And-Whistle Contest. Gary McKeever needs many volunteers at 9:30 a.m. to prepare the 11:00 program.

WALKWAY between the Eagles and Jas. MacDonald's will be the main item of discussion at next week's Foundation meeting. What is the ordinance for sidewalk maintenance? Who owns what? How can this space be used more effectively?

PHOTOGRAPHY of recent Jazz Concerts was reviewed with suggestions of a display at the March concert with possible direct sales from the photographer.

TIGER BASEBALL trip will be arranged in June as a fund-raiser for the DDA. Membership chair, Barbara Lohr, will again make the arrangements.

TAX EXEMPT STATUS will be reviewed by the treasurer, president McKeever and Carolyn McKeever who hold the State Department of Treasury's memos on the matter.

CUPOLA WINDOW in the caboose will be repaired and other repairs assessed. Jerry Meadows will arrange with Steve Casino for an estimate and repairs.

WHISTLE STOP CONCERTS will return to the Freight House on March 24th at 1 p.m. Bonnie Rosen-Fine has asked DTA to underwrite the liability insurance for the event. President McKeever will make the necessary arrangements with the event's sponsors.

BEST YET AWARD to Paul Fetters and his set-up and take-down committee for their proficiency at the Winter Jazz Series.

BILLBOARD MEETING at Aubree's Second Floor Sunday, February 24 for owners and merchants to discuss placement, payments and other promotions.

ADJOURNED at 9:35 p.m.

Dear Depot Town:

We made it! The Little Red Caboose field trip was a success! Some of the children wanted to know when it was going to move. Afterwards we were warmly welcomed by Shirley Kornlilakis and some hot chocolate at the Old Town Restaurant. A special thanks to you and your wife for all the effort - especially the mad dash in the morning. My husband and I frequent Depot Town often - we love it!

Sincerely, Breon Lott

RAG:

My compliments on a RAG (February) well done.

With respect,
Bob Fox

BILLBOARD ON US-23 FOR FOR MARCH

That beautiful, orange billboard which boosts our block is now standing on one of the biggest highways in the state, just before it intersects Interstate 94. Can you find its April location? We think you'll be pleasantly surprised. Many thanks to Bill French, Rex Richie and all the supporters who put together this excellent piece of public relations. Whenever did you hear so many people talk about Our Town so much - in just one month? City Councilmember Eula Tate loved it. She could see its first location on Michigan Avenue from her bedroom window.

A publication of the Depot Town Association, Inc., a non-profit, tax-exempt corporation dedicated to preserving the unique character of the neighborhood and to the enhancement of its business climate.

WHISTLESTOP IS RETURNING!

Anyone remember the short-lived "Whistlestop Concert" series of Fall of 1984? Those who attended remember an enjoyable, entertaining evening of Spanky Rucker's story-telling, guitar picking and blues in the cozy confines of the Freight House Coffee shop. Market/Freight House manager Gary Urick reports that a number of individuals who have expressed interest separately about using the Freight House for musical events are linking together to form the basis for reorganizing the concerts.

The first concert is tentatively planned for late April or May in the northend of the Freight House. Proceeds from this concert will go toward establishing the necessary insurance policy for a series of events throughout the year. Several performers have already committed to donating their talents for the benefit, including noted folk singer Dean Rutledge, folk-bluesman Eric Glatz, a contemporary folk group "Just Friends," plus an additional unnamed act.

The group plans to feature a variety of local talent and professional performers in the national circuit for weeknight and weekend concerts both in the coffee shop and the Freight House. This will include concerts especially for children, as well as bluegrass dancing, clogging, and old fashioned hoe-downs. Watch for details in the next issue of The Rag for the first Sunday afternoon concert in the Freight House. Your attendance can help underwrite this new music/cultural event in Depot Town.

Tickets will be available throughout Depot Town, including the Ypsi Food Co-op, And Everything Nice, and the Farmers' Market. Refreshments will be provided at intermissions. Ticket prices are set at $4 for adults, $1 for children or $10 for two adults and a family.

DAULTON IS TOP POTTER

Sandra Daulton, of the Artrain Building, has been awarded the Ann Arbor Potter's Guild Award at the Michigan Ceramics '85, the Michigan Potters' Association eighth statewide exhibition. Although Sandra's works have been seen with great regularity at Grand Trunk Ltd., the current exhibition is just ending at Ann Arbor's Selo/Shevel Gallery. The prize-winning piece was a terra cotta entry entitled "Tabula Rose XXIII." Sean McClellan, another artsy Depot Townner, was also included in the show.

GIVE US A SIGN!

Depot Town, like Garrison Keillor says of Lake Wobegon, Wisconsin, seems very real – until you start to look for it. Those lovely billboards around town certainly attest to the fact that there's a town called Ypsilanti up ahead and that it contains a historical section known as Depot Town, but once the big signs on the interstate guide you into that pleasant city, actually finding Depot Town becomes a bit more difficult. Downtown is right smack in the middle of it all, just as a downtown should be, and a few signs indicate there is a large State university in the northwest section of the city, but that wouldn't be near the railyards.

So, how do you find this place called Depot Town? It must be somewhere else – and regular railfans know where to look: is there a river? Tracks often followed the plain adjoining the river. A short drive up or down any street named "River Street" will probably find it. Watch for a train station, crossing gates, a freight house – but don't expect a water tank this long after the passing of steam engines. If it's warm enough and your windows are open, you'll probably be able to hear the switch engine shoving cars around the yard and up to the local factories. About six times a day you'll hear a mile-and-a-half-long freight rumble through. They seem faster at night. Eight times a day, if you're alert, you'll see short, silver Amtrak passenger liners zooming from Detroit to Chicago and back. Somewhere in town are a few railroad signs pointing out the local "rail passenger station." That's Amtrak for "depot," but the trains don't stop here any more, so nobody reads those signs anyway.

Even with these railroadian hints, if you think you've found Depot Town, how can you be sure this is actually the place you've been looking for? Some of the businesses give hints: Old Town Coin and Gold – Old Town Restaurant. (Sounds historic.) Sidetrack – Depot Exchange – Freight House. This must be the place.)

Still one wonders, with all the interest in antiques, good food, jazz and Nineteenth Century preservation, why aren't there any signs around town telling people how to find this old place? Maybe there just hasn't been a clear definition of responsibilities to get that job done. We offer up the following contractual agreement. It has a few holes in it, so, if you are the City Manager, the Mayor, a Councilmember, or a DPW worker, perhaps you can help out.

D.T.A. Create signage design
H.D.C. Get approval of letter style, size, colors, etc.
City Determine number and locations.
D.T.A. Purchase material
Huron Advertising Cut boards to size, prime & paint, apply lettering
D.P.W. Stick posts in ground, attach signs

JONESEY IS EIGHTY!

In a recent proclamation, Mayor Peter Murdock said:

Mr. Jones, we honor thee
And make it most official.

The City sees your eighty years
For us, most beneficial.

In Depot Town you make your rounds,
As Mayor you are seen.

With great respect your neighbors share
Their thoughts for you most keen.

In Ypsilanti's history
You do deserve a crown.

It's the people, not the buildings,
That make this place a town.

It's landmark status you deserve.
We celebrate this day.

To Harold Jones: We toast your years
And great respect we pay.

TED'S TWENTY-FIFTH

While DTA gets ready to celebrate its tenth b'day next month, Ted Mull must still see us as the new kids on the block. Not only was he one of the original organizers and a continuous supporter of neighborhood projects, but Ted's Auto Electric on River Street at Photo celebrates its twenty-fifth anniversary on March first. Watch for 1960's prices handled by tuxedoed attendants throughout this joyous month!

IKE'S GETTING OLD, TOO

Ike Rednour, of Ike's Barbershop, is also seeing this as his twenty-fifth year on the block. With one of the best views of the action on this block, Ike could well be the official historian for the neighborhood. Thank goodness, he doesn't tell everything he knows. Congratulations, Ike. We wish you another twenty-five.

J & J PLASTERCRAFT'S new back door and giant show window seem to add another fifty feet of space and light to their shop. Closing up the elevator shaft has made a great difference in their heat loss, too. (Isn't that just like a landlord? He couldn't afford the elevator, so he just gave them the shaft, instead!) The new interior now includes many more work spaces for craft classes and adds to the new feeling of spaciousness.

Rick Slate, of PRONTO PIZZA, is joining the ever-growing list of merchants who are moving their residence back to the neighborhood. Rick will walk to his pizza shop from his new digs above...and Everything Nice. It's an old tradition, and is exactly what our upstairs apartments were designed for. It wasn't many years ago that Weber Drug demolished the stairway to their "owner's suite," where Rick makes pizza today. River Art Works and Hon's Flowers each had stairways to upstairs apartments, too. Can you find evidence of other shop/apartment connections in the block?

Wanda LeBaron, of ESQUIRE INTERIORS, reminds us that they are not among the "new wave" in Depot Town, but actually started their cleaning business down here in 1946 on the north side of Cross Street. Years later they moved their INTERIORS portion of the business back to the old neighborhood. Notice their energy-saving window treatment. It's a good blend of practicality and style for a north-facing display window and it shows-off their popular product to its best advantage.

Religious leaders in the late 1890's critized the consumption of "sinfully" rich ice cream sodas on Sunday, so ice cream merchants decided to leave out the carbonated water, inventing the famous ice cream "Sunday." The spelling was changed to "Sundae" to remove any connection the the Sabbath. You can order your favorite "Sundae" on Sunday at Miller's Ice Cream Parlor. Open seven days a week all year!
